BOOK REVIEW: PLANTING IN A POST WILD WORLD

1. Structural Layer: comprised of the year-round key parts of a design. These components should always be maintained, though replaced if needed, and kept clearly defined as they are the basis of the design.
2. Seasonal Layer: waves of color/texture provided by each season's visually dominant plants. These are maintained by treating them en masse, thinning or spreading as necessary.
3. Groundcover Layer: provides the main diversity of the planting and most of the ecological function. This layer does not contribute noticeably to the aesthetic design, except as a living mulch. It's managed by retaining and adding diversity as much as possible to maximize the health of all the plants in the landscape.
4. Gap Fillers: self-sowing plants throughout the design and encouraged to set seed. This builds up a seed bank of desirable plants which will ideally sprout to fill any gaps that occur.

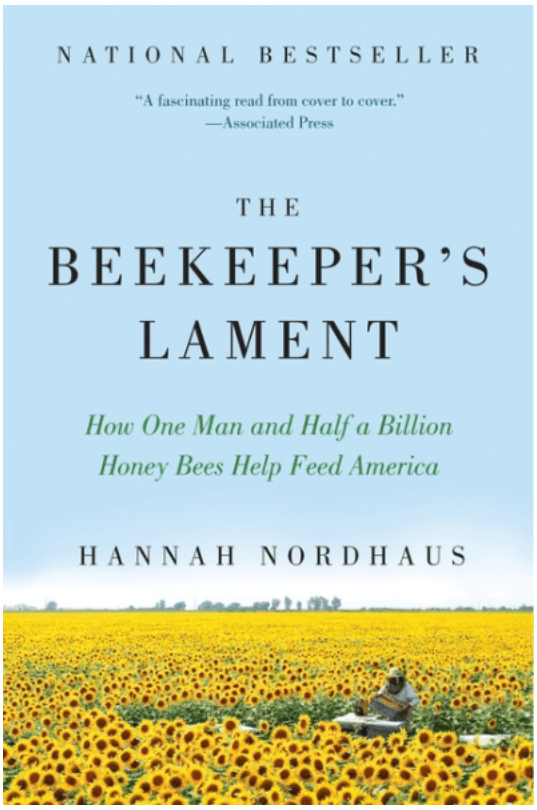

Please Note: Prices are subject to change at any time without notice. We do our best to keep prices current and provide accurate information.

BOOK REVIEW: REIMAGINING THE CALIFORNIA LAWN

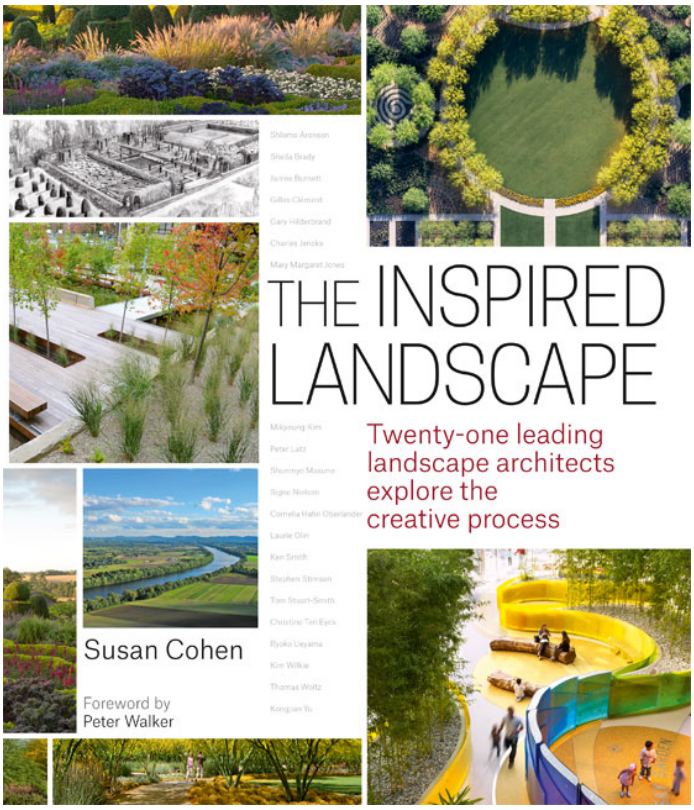

BOOK REVIEW: THE BEEKEEPER'S LAMENT

Please Note: Prices are subject to change at any time without notice. We do our best to keep prices current and provide accurate information.

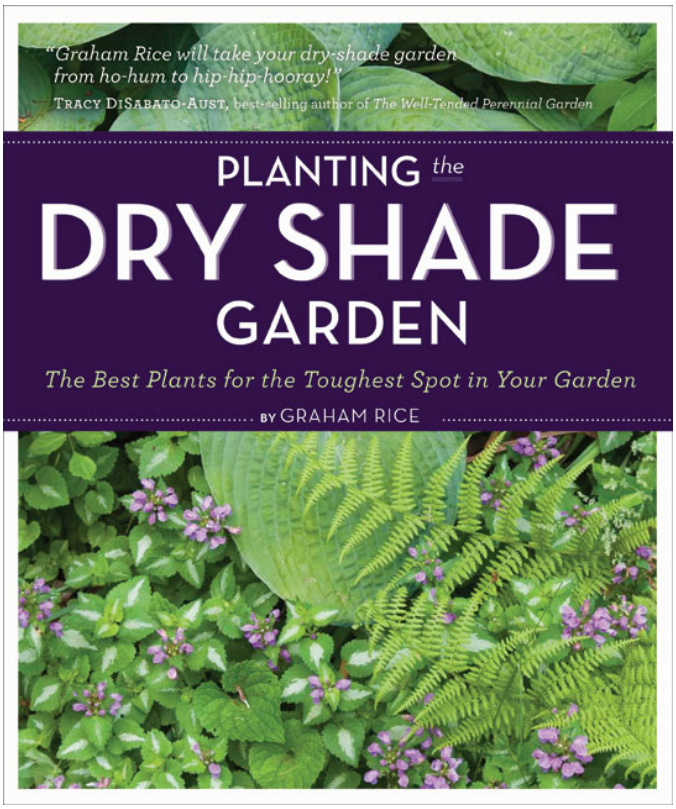

BOOK REVIEW: THE INSPIRED LANDSCAPE

Please Note: Prices are subject to change at any time without notice. We do our best to keep prices current and provide accurate information.

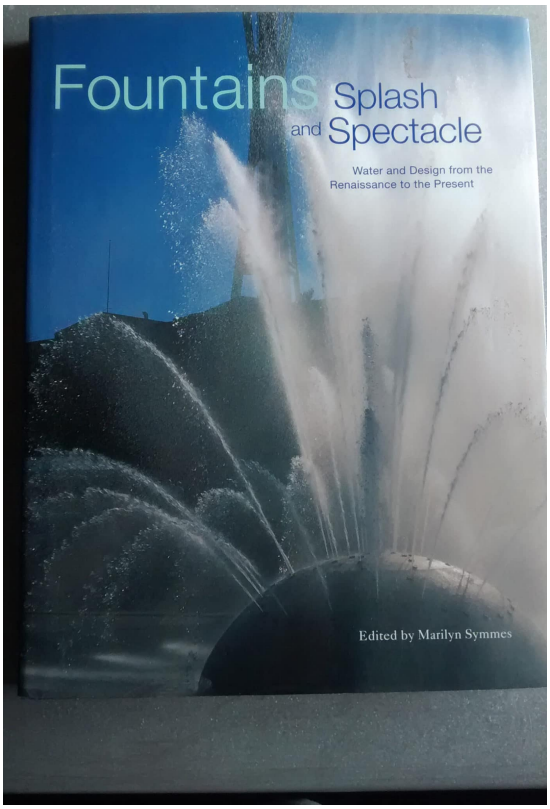

BOOK REVIEW: PLANTING THE DRY SHADE GARDEN

Please Note: Prices are subject to change at any time without notice. We do our best to keep prices current and provide accurate information.

BOOK REVIEW: FOUNTAINS – SPLASH AND SPECTACLE

Please Note: Prices are subject to change at any time without notice. We do our best to keep prices current and provide accurate information.

Please Note: Prices are subject to change at any time without notice. We do our best to keep prices current and provide accurate information.